

FSU Business Living-Learning Community

We're not BUSINESS as usual!

Maximize your potential by being a part of the Business Living-Learning Community at Florida State University!

Launching Fall 2024, the FSU Business Living-Learning Community (LLC) will focus on engaging business-intent freshman students from the moment they arrive on campus. Join a cohort of 40-75 business-intent students and live in a community setting within an FSU residence hall. Together, learn about career options in business, become familiar with the college's student-support programs and develop essential skills for success at FSU and beyond. Through a combination of small group seminars and larger gatherings featuring guest speakers, you'll be encouraged to explore your own interests and extend your learning beyond the classroom. College of Business faculty, staff, students and alumni will actively provide a supportive network as you navigate a business career path.

The Business LLC will set you up for success as a business student in any of its eight majors:

- Take a colloquium course (1 credit) in the fall and spring semesters that focuses on career preparation and academic planning.
- Take a College of Business prerequisite course (Introduction to Financial Accounting, 3 credits) in the spring semester with your LLC cohort.
