Giving to the Department of Management

The Department of Management offers a state-of-the-art curriculum that challenges and inspires students to shape the future of business. Our students benefit from the experiences and insights of a world-class faculty, corporate leaders and highly accomplished alumni. Your financial support allows the College of Business to enhance classroom instruction through a variety of experiential opportunities.
Programs Needing Your Support

Speaker Series
($50,000 annually)
Fostering important dialogue and discussing emerging trends and issues are important to both student and faculty development. Funding for a speaker series covers the contracted costs of visiting industry experts or scholars and their travel expenses.

Research Funding
($40,000 annually)
Funding is needed for students studying Organizational Behavior/Human Resource Management and researching applied business topics. Funding pays for research equipment, software and travel to conferences, and other research-associated costs.

CHRM International Internship Scholarship ($25,000 annually)
Given through the Center for Human Resource Management (CHRM), the scholarship supports international internship experiences for HRM students. The funds are used for housing, meals, travel and other costs related to the international experience.

CHRM Student Scholarship
($25,000 endowment)
Offered through CHRM, annual scholarships of $2,000 will be awarded to outstanding members of the Society for Human Resource Management.

Corporate Site Visits
($25,000 annually)
Each year a group of students tour corporate headquarters in major cities like Atlanta, Charlotte and Orlando, to gain industry perspective while learning about employment opportunities. Funding covers transportation, lodging and food.

Networking, Case Competition and Conference Events
($20,000 annually)
The department hosts events that give students the opportunity to build strong and meaningful connections with a diverse group of professionals. These events, such as speed interviewing, case-study showcases and micro-trend conferences, strengthen out-of-class learning for students.

Student Professional Development
($20,000 annually)
Some of the most important learning and skill development takes place off campus. Funding can send student organization officers to the Society for Human Resource Management Annual Conference & Exposition and the regional HR Florida Conference & Expo to broaden their industry understanding and help sharpen their leadership skills.

Student Service Projects
($10,000 annually)
Application leads to learning. Working together as a team on student-sponsored projects, ranging from resume-writing workshops to assisting nonprofits, benefits participating students by providing tangible opportunities for professional development. Funding supports volunteer training, travel, equipment and resources needed to bring ideas to successful fruition.
